ified with life in a strange country with lower living standards. Of the original 22, one was British, one was American, and the rest were from various other countries. The broadcast said the remaining 21 could leave any time they wished and admitted "difficulties" in keeping them happy in China. Two other American prisoners of war who at first refused repatriation changed their minds and returned to the United States. Both were court-martialed. Col. Claude F. supposed to be a peace conference, and with the arrival of hundreds of delegates to the United Nations anniversary meeting in San Francisco. Some think it a good demonstration to them of the seriousness with which the United States views the world situation. Others think it will increase the fear among them that American leadership has its eye on war more than on peace. President Eisenhower says the world has been a good thing, stressing the importance of alertness in such a troubled world. He points out also that it is a demonstration of American ability to keep going under any circumstances, something which should deter anyone from thinking of trying a "Pearl Harbor."

Chinaman Held in American's Death
SINGAPORE (AP)—Police investigating the fatal beating of American student, Gene D. Symonds, jailed a Chinese truck driver today on charges of being responsible for the attack. The driver, One Ah Too, was ordered to stand trial June 24. Symonds, a native of Dayton, Ohio, was beaten to death May 12 during riots that accompanied a bus workers' strike here. The current wave of strikes in Singapore, meanwhile, appeared to be waning. Nearly 300 of the 6,000 striking busmen returned to their jobs and elsewhere large groups of workers indicated a desire to go back to work.

Bobo Olson Roughs It Only in Ring

By WHITNEY MARTIN
ASBURY PARK, June 17 — Bobo Olson isn't exactly roughing it in the ring, at this seaside spot where he is preparing for his shot at Archie Moore's light heavyweight title at the Polo Grounds next Wednesday. Which doesn't mean he isn't deadly serious as he goes about his training chores. It's just that convention hall, where he mauls his sparring partners, practically sits on the Atlantic Ocean and the fine resort hotel where he stays is only few steps away on the boardwalk. The ambitious middleweight champion probably is working harder than he ever did for a fight, despite the fact he has no foreign problem such as Moore faces in making the 175-pound limit. "Never saw him work like this before," one veteran observer remarked. "He's boxing at long ranges, and punching harder."

Olson, looking quite large in his sweat shirt and ankle-length tight-fitting trunks, was seen today by authority, as if he realized that he'd have to do just that against the heavier Moore. He was constantly on the move, and you could detect the quiver of his shoulder muscles through the shirt, as even when he isn't punching or blocking punches he is feinting with his head or body and wriggling and twitching much as Henry Armstrong used to do as he hunched his way forward. He boxed six rounds in this work-out, two with each of three sparring partners, and only against the third, a burly fellow named Bull Halsey, was he boxing in and rapping short punches in the style of a professional. A full attendance of members is requested and any others interested in this subject will be welcome.

Mrs. B. C. Hyatt has returned from Japan after being the guest of her son, Charles Hyatt and family.

Mrs. Tom Purvis and children of Port Smith are the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. M. Houston.

Mrs. John L. Stewart and children of Johnston, Va., California are the guest of her mother, Mrs. Ched Hall.

Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Murphy and two little daughters, Kathryn and Emeline of Athens, Ohio will arrive Sunday to be the guest of Mrs. Murphy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trimble.

Mickey Walker, an artist and prospective restaurateur, watched the middleweight champion perform, and said it was "a good workout." Inasmuch as Walker was a well-known light and middleweight champion and fought for the light heavyweight crown, his group of Bobo's activities might be termed an expert opinion. Mickey, who never weighed more than 170, and who fought heavyweights he had to spot scores of pounds, is a little toward Moore in the light next Wednesday, although he admits Olson's comparative youth is to his favor. He believes Moore has the know-how, and that he punches too hard and too fast. Ordinarily, he said, the heavier man is the slower puncher, but Moore is one of the exceptions. After the workout Olson visited the Monmouth Park Race Track. Walker was there, too, and we caught Bobo covertly staring at Mickey, who at 53 carries only 155 pounds on his five-foot-six frame and who doesn't look at all formidable, and you almost could read Olson's mind. Our guess is that he was thinking that if a little fellow such as Walker could beat good heavyweights he, Olson, should be able to handle Moore, who figures to outweigh him by no more than five pounds.

Have Faith
Dear Miss Dix: My first husband was unfaithful, and the marriage ended in divorce. I am married again to a good man, an excellent provider, and a hard worker. We have three children. My husband's hours are long and he isn't home until quite late. I am beginning to have suspicions that he is unfaithful. I am afraid this will be a repetition of my first marriage. Perhaps I have too much time alone at night to imagine things. E. C.

Answer: You need a substitute for worry — and that is faith! You have absolutely no reason to suspect your husband's fidelity; his disloyalty exists entirely in your own imagination. Try These Books It is possible to pluck bad seeds from the soil of our minds and implant good ones. There are many books to help you do this. One is Fulton J. Sheen's "Way to Happiness." Another is "Beyond Anxiety" by James A. Pike. Unless you do something to change your way of thinking, you may ruin a good marriage. It is understandable that one perceptive male would make you suspect all others, but since you trusted your second husband enough to marry him, let him show himself worthy of your trust. Dear Miss Dix: I work in an office building and in the afternoon my girl friend and I go down to the drugstore for coffee. Four young men who also are employed in the building take their coffee break at the same time. I am particularly interested in one of them and I think he returns my interest. How can we go about getting acquainted? P. O.

Answer: Since you work in the same building, striking up a conversation is perfectly permissible. Take whatever opportunity offers itself. By this time you've probably met him. HAZEL'S BEAUTY SHOP Completely Air Conditioned for your comfort 101 S. Elm Phone 7-2878 Hazel Virginia Auline

... of the Southwest Press. In the time away from Hope the original 22, one was killed, one was American, one was British. The broadcast said the remaining 21 could leave any time they wished and admitted "difficulties" in keeping them happy in China. Two other American prisoners of war who at first refused repatriation changed their minds and returned to the United States. Both were court-martialed. Col. Claude F. Batchelor, of Keokuk, Iowa, was convicted of collaborating with the enemy and sentenced to life but this later was reduced to 20 years. Cpl. Edward S. Dickinson, of Big Stone Gap, Va., was convicted of informing on his comrades, carrying favor with his captors. He got 10 years at hard labor.

TRAMPLED TO DEATH
NAGOYA, Japan (U)—Visitors watched in horror at the Nagoya Zoo today as two female elephants knocked down a 23-year-old attendant with their trunks and then trampled him to death.

... supposed to be a peace conference, and with the arrival of hundreds of delegates to the United Nations anniversary meeting in San Francisco. Some think it a good demonstration to them of the seriousness with which the United States views the world situation. Others think it will increase the fear among them that American leadership has its eye on war more than on peace. President Eisenhower says the world has been a good thing, stressing the importance of alertness in such a troubled world. He points out also that it is a demonstration of American ability to keep going under any circumstances, something which should deter anyone from thinking of trying a "Pearl Harbor."

Bobo Olson Roughts It Only in Ring
By WHITNEY MARTIN
ASBURY PARK, June 17 — Bobo Olson isn't exactly roughing it in the ring, at this season spot where he is preparing for his shot at Archie Moore's light heavyweight title at the Polo Grounds next Wednesday. Which doesn't mean he isn't deadly serious as he goes about his training chores. It's just that convention hall, where he mauls his sparring partners, practically sits on the Atlantic Ocean and the fine resort hotel where he stays on only few steps away on the boardwalk. The ambitious middleweight champion probably is working harder than he ever did for a fight, despite the fact he has no foreign problem such as Moore faces in making the 175-pound limit. "Never saw him work like this before," one veteran observer remarked. "He's boxing at long ranges, and punching harder."

DOROTHY DIX
Have Faith
Dear Miss Dix: My first husband was unfaithful, and the marriage ended in divorce. I am married again to a good man, an excellent provider, and a hard worker. We have three children. My husband's hours are long and he isn't home until quite late. I am beginning to have suspicions that he is unfaithful. I am afraid this will be a repetition of my first marriage. Perhaps I have too much time alone at night to imagine things. E. C.

Legionnaires in 9-0 Win Over Waldo

The Hope Legionnaires racked up their seventh straight win last night as Joe Barcelon pitched them to a 9-0 shutout over the Waldo Giants there.

After three scoreless innings, the Legionnaires scored a single run on a double by W. H. Gunter, single by J. R. Boyle and a error. Two more runs crossed the plate in the next inning on double by Johnson, and consecutive singles by White, Beasley, and Filagomo combined with two walks.

They again picked up single taltals in the seventh and eighth. The Legionnaires really led the game in the ninth as picked up three runs on back to back singles by Gruhn and Duke, a double by Johnson, and back to back singles by White and Beasley.

The Giants never threatened during the game. Only one man got as far as third base.
In winning the game, Joe Bar-celon picked up his sixth straight victory without a defeat. He gave up no runs on six hits, walked one, while fanning 6.

Benefield, the starter and loser, gave up three runs on six hits, walked one and struck out four in four and two-thirds innings. Hal Talbot, his relief, gave up six runs on 10 hits fanned 5 and walked 4.

Monday night the Hope Legionnaires return to Nashville in an encounter with the Cubs. Next Tuesday the Legionnaires will be back in Legion Park as they take on a team from Dangerfield, Texas.

Bobo Holloman Wants Another Chance

By BILL FERGUSON
ATLANTA (UP) — Bobo Holloman, who started his major league pitching career with a no-hitter today held onto a faint hope of being able to put a decent end to that career.

"After the deal I got on my way out," Bobo said, "it's pretty hard to find anything good to say about baseball. But I love it and I guess I would jump at a decent chance to get back in the game."

GMC Trucks Mile History Released

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 17—A multi-million mile history for GMC trucks with Hydra-Matic transmission was unveiled today by three large truck fleet operators at the summer meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

The reports, made by representatives of Aker Motor Lines, Inc., Cooper-Jarrett, Inc., and Herz Stations, Inc., documented evidence that the GMCs with Hydra-Matic transmission have recorded an unusual story on operating, economy, efficiency, and driving safety.

Family of 6 Live in Auto in Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—A family of six, including four children under eight years old, lived for two weeks in an automobile in MacArthur Park here until a friendly concessionaire moved them into a trailer last night.

The children's mother is across the street in University Hospital and may be there for several months.

Their father, Elmer Gean, 53, a migrant farm worker from Tyrone, Ark., says he doesn't know what he's going to do.

He's been to the local welfare office twice and received $20 each time. He said he's almost out of money again and probably will head back for the welfare office.

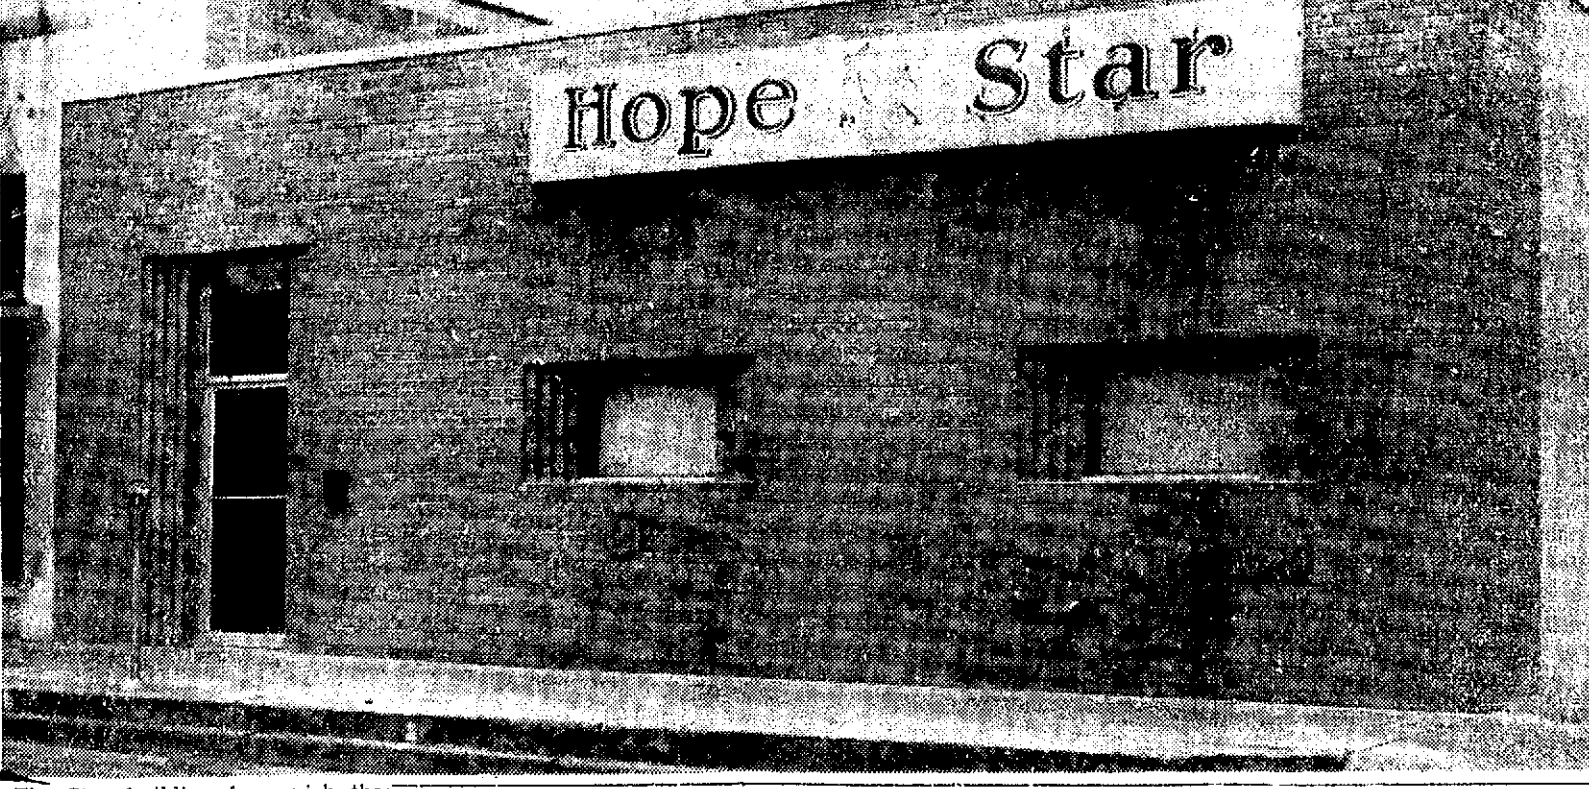

"I've never asked for help before," he said, "but I've got to do something until my wife is well enough to leave the hospital."

The wife, Jacqueline, 28, refused to come to Little Rock for treatment of a spinal ailment unless the children came along.

On May 21, a brother, Elmer Gean, said he had 30 cents when he parked the car near the hospital and the vehicle served as living quarters until the move to the trailer. The children and their grandmother slept in the car, and Gean slept on the street.

The present trailer home formerly was used as a concession stand. Persons in the neighborhood have donated food and clothing and have done some washing for the children.

Star Building Is Brand New Structure — an Unusual Construction Feat

The Star building for which the newspaper's owners and staff are holding Open House this Saturday, June 18, is a brand new structure — an unusual construction feat.

The only parts of the original building at 212-14 S. Walnut st. used in the new newspaper home were the main north and south walls and the concrete floor. Eighteen 40-foot steel trusses were installed below the original wooden roof timbers; steel plating spanned the trusses; a 2-inch lightweight concrete deck was then poured on the steel.

The new building is approximately 4,800 square feet of floor space, comprising the original 40x100 site and a 10x35 wing at the rear section of the south wall, built specifically as a newspaper warehouse.

Arkansas to Be Divided in 1956 Campaign, Faubus Is Almost Sure to Have Fight

By WILLIAM W. HUGHES
LITTLE ROCK (UP)—What is the political status today of the first man to head another man's quest for a second term as governor since Tom Terrill was defeated in 1948?

Gov. Orval E. Faubus now has served six months in the chief executive chair he assumed after defeating former Gov. Francis Cherry's bid for a second term. Ever since the Faubus inauguration, political observers have wondered how the man who rose from poverty and obscurity in the Ozark hills has fared as the governor of his state since his unexpected triumph in the 1954 Democratic primary.

Two recent developments in the political spotlight as the first Democrat in more than a half-century has faced opposition from a Republican before he finally was elected.

You can't look at history, especially the Terrill defeat, in order to draw any conclusion. The man who beat Terrill, John J. Martin, neared only one year as governor, and then accepted an appointment as a federal judge, never seeking a second term himself.

Faubus, however, is a man who almost certainly is seeking re-election in 1958.

Lou Nova Is Winner in $35,000 Suit
By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK (UP) — Former heavyweight challenger Lou Nova today won a $35,000 judgment against a Los Angeles sports writer.

"I didn't mention it because I didn't want anybody in the business to take it personally," Nova said. "I have many friends on my side."

Nova's lawyer, Arthur J. Altmeyer, said the suit was "a vindictive" move by the sports writer.

Bobo Holloman Wants Another Chance

By BILL FERGUSON
ATLANTA (UP) — Bobo Holloman, who started his major league pitching career with a no-hitter today held onto a faint hope of being able to put a decent end to that career.

If Bobo never gets back in professional baseball, then the end will be as disappointing as the beginning was promising. But the big right-hander is still hoping for another chance.

"After the deal I got on my way out," Bobo said, "it's pretty hard to find anything good to say about baseball. But I love it and I guess I would jump at a decent chance to get back in the game."

If Bobo is a bit better, less than a year after his no-hitter, he was out of baseball. He quit after he was let down by the league to the Class D level. His sore arm, he says, was never treated.

The 29-year-old Thomaston Ga. native said he is happy now working as a shoe salesman at the Athens, Ga. store.

Alva L. Holloman is presently playing with an industrial league team and coaching a Little League squad. His pretty wife shares his interest in baseball and they're both convinced that their son will be a great ball player.

Holloman, who stands about two and a half feet tall and weighs 215, started his professional career in 1940 with the St. Louis Browns. He was in the Class D Georgia League.

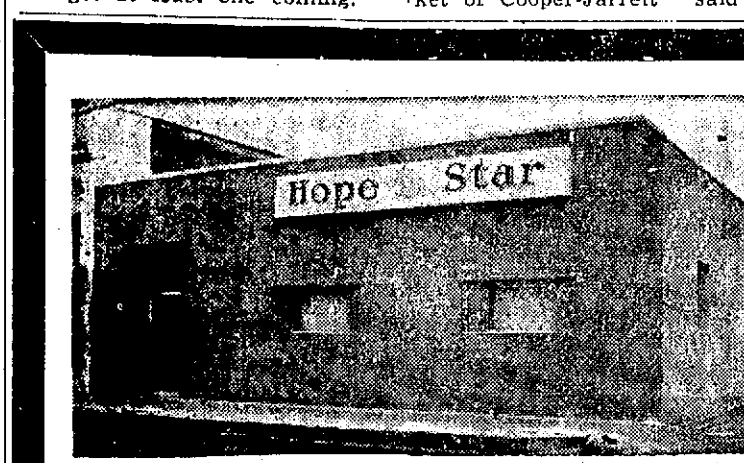

It wasn't until 1953 that he got his first big chance in the majors and he made that an unforgettable moment by opening his career with a no-hitter against the Philadelphia Athletics.

But then Bobo started having trouble with his arm. His no-hitter was the only game he completed for the St. Louis Browns that season and he wound up with a record of three wins and seven losses.

From St. Louis, Bobo went to Toronto and began his quick slide only for vindication.

Lou admits that his fight with Lou was "rather dull." His board of strategy planned for him to box carefully through 10 rounds and then shoot for a knockout. In the sixth, Lou says, he tired of the slow cat-and-mouse game and tried to lure Lou by dropping his left and shooting the works with a counterpunch.

"But Lou threw a perfect punch," he recalled. "He knocked me down and almost out. Still I got up and took more than 20 additional punches by actual count before it was stopped."

On May 21, a brother, Elmer, when the trouble began so they drove back to Arkansas in their four-door Ford sedan.

Mrs. Gean's mother, Mrs. Verma Gean of Cherokee, Ala., came along to take care of the children.

Gean said he had 30 cents when he parked the car near the hospital and the vehicle served as living quarters until the move to the trailer. The children and their grandmother slept in the car, and Gean slept on the street.

The present trailer home formerly was used as a concession stand. Persons in the neighborhood have donated food and clothing and have done some washing for the children.

The children are three girls, two boys and eight, and a boy, six.

MacArthur Park, formerly City Park, was re-named for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who was born there when it was a military post, which his father commanded.

Ship Passengers To Go by Plane
LONDON (UP) — Guard line officials chartered a fleet of planes today to carry more than 1,100 American-bound passengers from London to Britain by a wildcat seamen's strike. The travelers will save at least $14 on the deal — plus the time they will have to pay.

The 1,600 strikers, who have tied up eight transatlantic lines, warned they face drafting into the army. Merchant seamen are exempt from the draft while at sea but can be called up if they go 14 days or more without a ship.

Cunard provided the special air-lift for passengers stranded by the seamen's strike. The ship was on the line Sunday from the 1,175 passengers from Britain already were on route — 60 on regular flights and the rest on two chartered planes. The line said 12 more aircraft have been chartered to transport the rest.

Congratulations

Star Building Is Brand New Structure — an Unusual Construction Feat

The Star building for which the newspaper's owners and staff are holding Open House this Saturday, June 18, is a brand new structure — an unusual construction feat.

The only parts of the original building at 212-14 S. Walnut st. used in the new newspaper home were the main north and south walls and the concrete floor. Eighteen 40-foot steel trusses were installed below the original wooden roof timbers; steel plating spanned the trusses; a 2-inch lightweight concrete deck was then poured on the steel.

The new building is a newspaper warehouse.

On May 21, it was inspected by the state insurance rating bureau and rated "completely fire-proof."

The original building was constructed in 1919, was bought by Star Publishing Co. in 1932 from Talbot Field, Sr., and the First National Bank. It had a 15-foot ceiling, giving it a proportionately lower profile.

The construction program was deemed advisable because of the modern trend to efficient air-conditioning, requiring lower ceilings, lighter construction, fewer windows, and 100% insulation. The new building is air-conditioned throughout with 15 tons of Carrier equipment delivered to all departments by the latest duct system. In winter the same duct system delivers heat. The equipment is divided into two 7 1/2-ton air-conditioners, each with a matching 180,000 BTU gas furnace, feeding into the same duct system—no duplicate machines are always available in case one fails.

Another system of smaller, insulated ducts draws off heat from the gas-fired line-type pots with a power suction system, reducing the air-conditioner's burden in fighting summer's high temperatures in the newspaper shop. The system is expected to hold maximum temperature in the shop to 80 degrees regardless of the summer sun. It is expected to do this with one 7 1/2-ton unit, backed up by the reserve unit when required.

The new building is plastered over new brickwork. It is necessary "definitely drunk and driving in the wrong lane." Parkington is being held on an open charge in the suit.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — G. T. Saunders, leader of the opposition to parking matters here, said he expects such enthusiastic response to his drive for referendum signatures that the city council will withdraw its matter ordinance.

The ordinance was given final approval recently when Republican Mayor Frank R. Saunders, Jr. voted in favor of it, breaking a 6-6 tie.

Meters have twice been voted down in Little Rock.

He said 500 petitions have been ordered and pre-circulation of the ordinance has been very favorable.

Arkansas to Be Divided in 1956 Campaign, Faubus Is Almost Sure to Have Fight

By WILLIAM W. HUGHES
LITTLE ROCK (UP) — What the political state today of the first man to head another man's quest for a second term as governor since Tom Terrill was defeated in 1948.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus now has served six months in the chief executive chair he assumed after defeating former Gov. Francis Cherry's bid for a second term.

Ever since the Faubus inauguration, political observers have wondered how the man who rose from poverty and obscurity in the Ozark hills has fared as the governor of his state since his unexpected triumph in the 1954 Democratic primary.

Two recent developments in the political spotlight as the first Democrat in more than a half-century has faced his first opposition from a Republican before he finally was elected.

You can't look at history, especially the Terrill defeat, in order to draw any conclusion. The man who beat Terrill, John J. Martin, neared only one year as governor, and then accepted an appointment as a federal judge, never seeking a second term himself.

Faubus' hand, however, is almost certain to seek re-election in 1958.

Two recent developments about the state's political front have made people curious about the Faubus situation. Whether or not he will be running, they have the storm centers that have gathered about the State Education Department, and the proposal to refer the feed tax exemption bill to a vote of the people.

Faubus is closely tied up with both fights. He has been charged with two federal officers of the Education Department with dictating their dismissal to the state board of education.

Former Deputy Education Commissioner Don Blackmon and for Teacher Certification Chief.

Bobo Holloman Wants Another Chance

By BILL FERGUSON

ATLANTA (UP) — Bobo Holloman, who started his major league pitching career with a no-hitter today held onto a faint hope of being able to put a decent end to that career.

If Bobo never gets back in professional baseball, then the end will be as disappointing as the beginning was promising. But the big right-hander is still hoping for another chance.

"After the deal I got on my way out," Bobo said, "it's pretty hard to find anything good to say about baseball. But I love it and I guess I would jump at a decent chance to get back in the game."

If Bobo is a bit better tossed than a year after his no-hitter, he was out of baseball. He quit after he was let down league-wide to the Class D level. His sore arm, he says, was never treated.

The 29-year-old Thomaston Ga. native said he is happy now working as a janitor at a shoe store in Athens, Ga. But he can't get away from baseball, and the thought of returning to the major league is a constant thought.

Alva L. Holloman is presently playing with an Industrial League team and coaching a Little League squad. His pretty wife shares his interest in baseball and they're both convinced that their son will be a great ball player.

Holloman, who stands about 5'10" and is about 150 pounds overweight at 215, started his professional career in 1940 with the Atlanta Braves. He was in the Class D Georgia League.

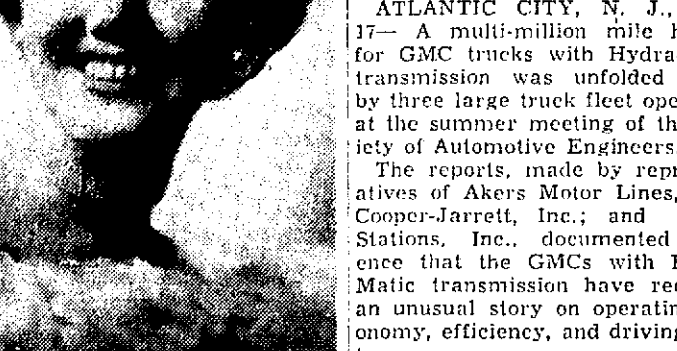

It wasn't until 1952 that he got his first big chance in the majors and he made that an unforgettable moment by opening his career with a no-hitter against the Philadelphia Athletics.

But then Bobo started having trouble with his arm. His no-hitter was the only game he completed for the St. Louis Browns that season and he wound up with a record of three wins and seven losses.

From St. Louis, Bobo went to Toronto and began his quick slide only for vindication.

Lou admits that his fight with Lou was "rather dull." His board of strategy planned for him to box carefully through 10 rounds and then shoot for a knockout. In the sixth, Lou says, he tired of the slow cat-and-mouse game and tried to lure Lou by dropping his left and shooting the works with a counterpunch.

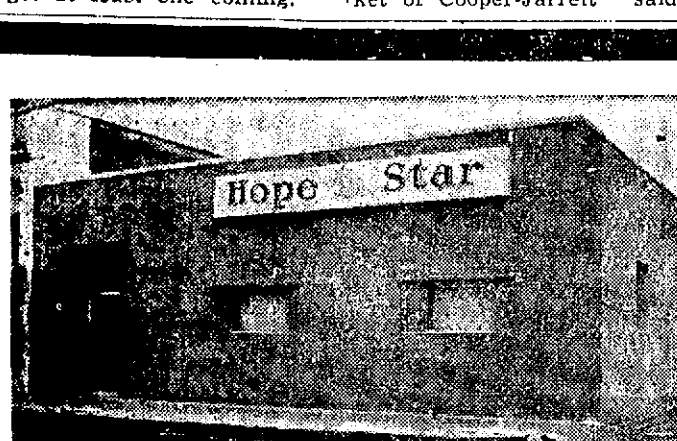

"But Lou threw a perfect punch," he recalled. "He knocked me down and almost out. Still I got up and took more than 20 additional punches by actual count before it was stopped."

BETTY ALLWHITE, linotype operator and machine tender, two years with the company.

to the bush leagues. Then he decided to give the game up, at least for a while.

"Now I want to get back in," he said. "I think I'm ready, but I can't seem to get a chance. Maybe I'll get a break. I think over-time Diesel, Walter J. Cronkite of Cooper-Jarrett said their son has not been entirely trouble-free."

GMC Trucks Mile History Released

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 17—A multi-million mile history for GMC trucks with Hydra-Matic transmission was unveiled today by three large truck fleet operators at the summer meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

The reports, made by representatives of Akers Motor Lines, Inc., Cooper-Jarrett, Inc., and Herz Stations, Inc., documented evidence that the GMCs with Hydra-Matic transmission have recorded an unusual story on operating, economy, efficiency, and driving safety.

Family of 6 Live in Auto in Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—A family of six, including four children under eight years old, lived for two weeks in an automobile in MacArthur Park here until a friendly concessionaire moved them into a trailer last night.

The children's mother is across the street in University Hospital and may be there for several months.

Their father, Elmer Gean, 53, a migrant farm worker from Tyrone, Ark., says he doesn't know what he's going to do.

He's been to the local welfare office twice and received $20 each time. He said he's almost out of money again and probably will head back for the welfare office.

"I've never asked for help before," he said, "but I've got to do something until my wife is well enough to leave the hospital."

The wife, Jacqueline, 28, refused to come to Little Rock for treatment of a spinal ailment unless the children came along.

On May 21, a brother, Elmer, when the trouble began so they drove back to Arkansas in their four-door Packard sedan. Mrs. Gean's mother, Mrs. Verma Haden of Cherokee, Ala., came along to take care of the children.

Gean said he had 30 cents when he parked the car near the hospital and the vehicle served as living quarters until the move to the trailer. The children and their grandmother slept in the car, and Gean slept on the street.

The present trailer home formerly was used as a concession stand. Persons in the neighborhood have donated food and clothing and have done some washing for the children.

The children are three girls, two boys and eight, and a boy, six. MacArthur Park, formerly City Park, was re-named for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who was born there when it was a military post, which his father commanded.

Star Building Is Brand New Structure — an Unusual Construction Feat

The Star building for which the newspaper's owners and staff are holding Open House this Saturday, June 18, is a brand new structure — an unusual construction feat.

The only parts of the original building at 212-14 S. Walnut st. used in the new newspaper home were the main north and south walls and the concrete floor. Eighteen 40-foot steel trusses were installed below the original wooden roof timbers; steel plating spanned the trusses; a 2-inch lightweight concrete deck was then poured on the steel.

The new building-up roof was installed over the deck—and then the old wooden framing and roof were torn away, revealing the new building.

It was a unique job reflecting great credit on B. W. Edwards, Hope contractor, because all of the work was carried on with the newspaper machinery remaining in place. The Star's offices were moved into temporary quarters across the street in the former Floodland Market location—but the linotypes and press never left their original stations.

The newspaper shop went through two great storms and two severe fires but never missed an edition. There was one close call, however, on Sunday afternoon, March 20. Hope was raked by a 34-inch rain and a wind of line-squall velocity. The press pit and its main drive motor were flooded. During the night the pit was pumped out, the big motor was removed and taken to Texarkana for a bake-out job—and was re-installed just in time for the Monday afternoon edition. Construction required three months. The front offices were vacated to have been chartered to transport the press.

Another feature of the building is a large vault off the front office. This holds not only the office safe and filing cabinets but also the 16 years of The Star's bound files. These are arranged in modern racks—with room for the books of many more years to come.

The building was constructed for Star Publishing Co. by B. W. Edwards, with J. O. Taylor as general foreman, and Marvin Anderson, foreman of bricklayers, all of Hope.

The list of suppliers on this construction job follows:

Hope Brick Works, Hope Builders Supply Co., Gunter Retail Lumber Co., City Lumber Co., Bill Wray Supply Co., Covington Roofing Co. of Conway, Ark., Arkansas Foundry Co. of Little Rock, A. W. Johnson Co. of Little Rock, for Carrier air-conditioning.

Greentree Steel Metal Co. for the duct system, Allen Electric Co. for the wiring, Harry W. Shiver for plumbing, and Hope Sign & Neon for the electric sign—which is a reproduction of the newspaper's printed logo type or name, complete with the center-piece showing the state's outline and official seal.

Ship Passengers To Go by Plane

LONDON (UP)—Guard line officials chartered a fleet of planes today to carry more than 1,100 American-bound passengers en route to Britain by a wildcat seamen's strike. The travelers will save at least $14 on the deal—plus the time they will have to pay.

The 1,600 strikers, who have tied up eight transatlantic lines, warned they face drafting into the army. Merchant seamen are exempt from the draft while at sea but can be called up if they go 14 days or more without a ship.

Cunard provided the special air-lift for passengers stranded by the seamen's strike. The ship, the Queen Mary, left London yesterday for the 1,175 passengers from Britain already were on the route—60 on regular flights, and the rest on two chartered planes. The line said 12 more aircraft have been chartered to transport the rest.

Congratulations

To Alex Washburn, and the entire staff of the Hope Star on your Modern Building.

We are proud of your new step . . . for like so many businessmen of Hope . . . your progress and future is so closely linked with ours.

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—What the political state today of the first man to head another man's quest for a second term as governor since Tom Terrill was defeated in 1948.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus now has served six months in the chief executive chair he assumed after defeating former Gov. Francis Cherry's bid for a second term.

Ever since the Faubus inauguration, political observers have wondered how the man who rose from poverty and obscurity in the Ozark hills has fared as the governor of his state since his unexpected triumph in the 1954 Democratic primary.

Two recent developments in the political spotlight as the first Democrat in more than a half-century to face a serious opposition from a Republican before he finally was elected.

You can't look at history, especially the Terrill defeat, in order to draw any conclusion. The man who beat Terrill, John J. Martin, neared only one year as governor, and then accepted an appointment as a federal judge, never seeking a second term himself.

Faubus' hand, however, almost certain to seek re-election in 1958.

Two recent developments about the state's political front have made people curious about the Faubus' interest in the 1956 election. Whether or not he will run, the state's political front have made people curious about the Faubus' interest in the 1956 election.

Faubus is closely tied up with both fights. He has been charged with two federal offices of the Education Department with dictating their dismissal to the state board of education.

Opposition to Park Matters Mounts

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—G. T. Saunders, leader of the opposition to parking matters here, said he expects such enthusiastic response to his drive for referral petition signatures that the city council will withdraw its matter ordinance.

The ordinance was given final approval recently when Republican Mayor Frank R. Taylor, in favor of them, breaking a 6-6 tie.

Meters have twice been voted down in Little Rock.

"We think we can get 10,000 signatures easily," said Saunders, who headed the opposition during the last election.

"We're shooting at 12,000." Fewer than 3,000 are required.

If things go well, such a large segment of the voters to sign the ordinance as contrary to the mandate of the people.

He said 500 petitions have been ordered and pre-circulation response has been very favorable.

A rally tonight will be the official kick-off of the anti-meter petition drive.

Persons unable to call to see the social security representative are advised to have some one call for them, or write the Social Security Administration, 406 Post Office Building, Texarkana and give the details of their case.

Lou Nova Is Winner in $35,000 Suit
By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK (UP) — Former heavyweight challenger Lou Nova today won a $35,000 judgment against a Los Angeles sports writer.

"I didn't mention it because I didn't want anybody in the business to take it personally," Nova said. "I have many friends on my side."

Nova's lawyer, Arthur J. Altmeyer, said the suit was "a vindictive" move by the sports writer.

Bobo Holloman Wants Another Chance

By BILL FERGUSON
ATLANTA (UP) — Bobo Holloman, who started his major league pitching career with a no-hitter today held onto a faint hope of being able to put a decent end to that career.

If Bobo never gets back in professional baseball, then the end will be as disappointing as the beginning was promising. But the big right-hander is still hoping for another chance.

"After the deal I got on my way out," Bobo said, "it's pretty hard to find anything good to say about baseball. But I love it and I guess I would jump at a decent chance to get back in the game."

If Bobo is a bit better tossed than a year after his no-hitter, he was out of baseball. He quit after he was let down league-wide to the Class D level. His sore arm, he says, was never treated.

The 29-year-old Thomaston Ga. native said he is happy now working as a shoe salesman at the Athens, Ga. store.

Alva L. Holloman is presently playing with an industrial league team and coaching a Little League squad. His pretty wife shares his interest in baseball and they're both convinced that their son will be a great ball player.

Holloman, who stands about 5'10" and weighs 175 pounds, was drafted at 21, started his professional career in 1940 with the St. Louis Browns.

It wasn't until 1953 that he got his first big chance in the majors and he made that an unforgettable moment by opening his career with a no-hitter against the Philadelphia Athletics.

But then Bobo started having trouble with his arm. His no-hitter was the only game he completed for the St. Louis Browns that season and he wound up with a record of three wins and seven losses.

From St. Louis, Bobo went to Toronto and began his quick slide only for vindication.

Lou admits that his fight with Lou was "rather dull." His board of strategy planned for him to box carefully through 10 rounds and then shoot for a knockout. In the sixth, Lou says, he tired of the slow cat-and-mouse game and tried to lure Lou by dropping his left and shooting the works with a counterpunch.

GMC Trucks Mile History Released

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 17—A multi-million mile history for GMC trucks with Hydra-Matic transmission was unveiled today by three large truck fleet operators at the summer meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

The reports, made by representatives of Aker Motor Lines, Inc., Cooper-Jarrett, Inc., and Herz Stations, Inc., documented evidence that the GMCs with Hydra-Matic transmission have recorded an unusual story on operating, economy, efficiency, and driving safety.

"After the deal I got on my way out," Bobo said, "it's pretty hard to find anything good to say about baseball. But I love it and I guess I would jump at a decent chance to get back in the game."

Family of 6 Live in Auto in Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—A family of six, including four children under eight years old, lived for two weeks in an automobile in MacArthur Park here until a friendly concessionaire moved them into a trailer last night.

The children's mother is across the street in University Hospital and may be there for several months.

Their father, Elmer Gean, 53, a migrant farm worker from Tyrone, Ark., says he doesn't know what he's going to do.

He's been to the local welfare office twice and received $20 each time. He said he's almost out of money again and probably will head back for the welfare office.

"I've never asked for help before," he said, "but I've got to do something until my wife is well enough to leave the hospital."

The wife, Jacqueline, 28, refused to come to Little Rock for treatment of a spinal ailment unless the children came along.

On May 21, a brother, Elmer, Jr., when the trouble began so they drove back to Arkansas in their four-door Ford sedan.

Mrs. Gean's mother, Mrs. Verma Gean of Cherokee, Ala., came along to take care of the children.

Gean said he had 30 cents when he parked the car near the hospital and the vehicle served as living quarters until the move to the trailer. The children and their grandmother slept in the car, and Gean slept on the street.

The present trailer home formerly was used as a concession stand. Persons in the neighborhood have donated food and clothing and have done some washing for the children.

The children are three girls, two boys and eight, and a boy, six.

MacArthur Park, formerly City Park, was re-named for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who was born there when it was a military post, which his father commanded.

Ship Passengers To Go by Plane
LONDON (UP)—Guard line officials chartered a fleet of planes today to carry more than 1,100 American-bound passengers en route to Britain by a wildcat seamen's strike. The travelers will save at least $14 on the deal—plus the time they will have to pay.

The 1,600 strikers, who have tied up eight transatlantic lines, warned they face drafting into the army. Merchant seamen are exempt from the draft while at sea but can be called up if they go 14 days or more without a ship.

Cunard provided the special air-lift for passengers stranded by the seamen's strike. The ship, the Queen Mary, left London yesterday for the 1,175 passengers from Britain already were on route—60 on regular flights, and the rest on two chartered planes. The line said 12 more aircraft have been chartered to transport the rest.

Star Building Is Brand New Structure — an Unusual Construction Feat

The Star building for which the newspaper's owners and staff are holding Open House this Saturday, June 18, is a brand new structure — an unusual construction feat.

The only parts of the original building at 212-14 S. Walnut st. used in the new newspaper home were the main north and south walls and the concrete floor. Eighteen 40-foot steel trusses were installed below the original wooden roof timbers; steel plating spanned the trusses; a 2-inch lightweight concrete deck was then poured on the steel.

The new building-up roof was installed over the deck—and then the old wooden framing and roof were torn away, revealing the new building.

It was a unique job reflecting great credit on B. W. Edwards, Hope contractor, because all the new machinery remaining in the building was carried on the new, paper machinery remaining in the building.

The newspaper shop went through two great storms and two severe fires but never missed an edition. There was one close call, however. On Sunday afternoon, March 20, Hope was raked by a 34-inch rain and a wind of line-squall velocity. The press pit and its main drive motor were flooded. During the night the pit was pumped out, the big motor was removed and taken to Texarkana for a bake-out job—and was re-installed just in time for the Monday afternoon edition. Construction required three months. The front offices were vacated to have been chartered to transport the rest.

Another feature of the building is a large vault off the front office. This holds not only the office safe and filing cabinets but also the 16 years of The Star's bound files. These are arranged in modern racks—with room for the books of many more years to come.

The building was constructed for Star Publishing Co. by B. W. Edwards, with J. O. Taylor as general foreman, and Marvin Anderson, foreman of bricklayers, all of Hope.

The list of suppliers on this construction job follows:

Hope Brick Works, Hope Builders Supply Co., Gunter Retail Lumber Co., City Lumber Co., Bill Wray Co. of Little Rock, for Carrier air-conditioning.

Greentree Steel Metal Co. for the duct system, Allen Electric Co. for the wiring, Harry W. Shiver for plumbing, and Hope Sign & Neon for the electric sign—which is a reproduction of the newspaper's printed logo type or name, complete with the center-piece showing the state's outline and official seal.

Arkansas to Be Divided in 1956 Campaign, Faubus Is Almost Sure to Have Fight

By WILLIAM W. HUGHES
LITTLE ROCK (UP)—What is the political situation today of the first man to head another man's quest for a second term as governor since Tom Terrill was defeated in 1948?

Gov. Orval E. Faubus now has served six months in the chief executive chair he assumed after defeating former Gov. Francis Cherry's bid for a second term. Ever since the Faubus inauguration, political observers have wondered how the man who rose from poverty and obscurity in the Ozark hills has fared as the governor of his state since his unexpected triumph in the 1954 Democratic primary.

Two recent developments in the political spotlight as the first Democrat in more than a half-century has faced serious opposition from a Republican before he finally was elected.

You can't look at history, especially the Terrill defeat, in order to draw any conclusion. The man who beat Terrill, John J. Martin, neared only one year as governor, and then accepted an appointment as a federal judge, never seeking a second term himself.

Faubus' hand, however, is almost certain to seek re-election in 1956.

Two recent developments about the state's political front have made people curious about the Faubus situation. The first is the fact that the Faubus administration is running. They are the storm centers that have gathered about the State Education Department, and the proposal to refer the fee tax exemption bill to a vote of the people.

Faubus is closely tied up with both fights. He has been charged with two federal officials of the Education Department with dictating their dismissal to the state board of education.

Former Deputy Education Commissioner Don Blackmon and for Teacher Certification Chief.

Disability Freeze Marks Work Increase
The new disability freeze provisions of the social security law have caused a marked increase in work in the state's social security offices. The freeze, which took effect on July 1, has caused a marked increase in work in the state's social security offices.

Opposition to Park Meters Mounts
LITTLE ROCK (UP)—G. T. Saunders, leader of the opposition to parking meters here, said he expects such enthusiastic response to his drive for referendum signatures that the city council will withdraw its meter ordinance.

The ordinance was given final approval recently when Republican Mayor Frank R. Taylor, in favor of them, breaking a 6-6 tie.

Meters have twice been voted down in Little Rock.

"We think we can get 10,000 signatures easily," said Saunders, who headed the opposition during the last election. "We're shooting at 12,000." Fewer than 3,000 are required.

If things go well, such a large segment of the voters to sign the ordinance as contrary to the mandate of the people.

He said 500 petitions have been ordered and pre-circulation responses have been very favorable.

A rally tonight will be the official kick-off of the anti-meter petition drive.

Persons unable to call to see the social security representative are advised to have some one call for them, or write the Social Security Administration, 406 Post Office Building, Texarkana and give the details of their case.

Have You Got the Sunday Neurosis

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Do you feel guilty when you don't have enough work to do on Sunday? Perhaps it's "Sunday afternoon neurosis."

With the increase of automation, it's apt to become a week-long problem, Dr. Gilbert Brighthouse, Occidental College psychologist, says.

Sunday afternoon neurosis, the doctor told the American Society of Training Directors, is nervousness "in which the victim doesn't know what to do with himself and feels guilty because he isn't working."

Dr. Brighthouse suggests acquiring new skills and indulging in adult education.

Business Is Humming at Summer Stars

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Business nears the official start of summer humming a prosperity tune.

Industrial output is at an all-time high, says the Federal Reserve Board, after adjusting its index to the weather.

Retail sales are running 8 per cent higher than a year ago.

Construction activity—also after being adjusted for seasonal influences—is at a record high and one eighth larger than last year.

The coming of hot weather is pushing electric power output to an all-time high. It was within a whisker of it last week. The Edison Electric Institute says the use of electricity for air conditioning is rising and a new record is probably just days away.

Refineries are turning out 20 million barrels of gasoline a week now. But American motorists are using even more than that.

American families eating well. The U. S. Department of Agriculture says that meat production is running 3 per cent above a year ago, with beef even higher.

Pansy the Pig in High Company

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Pansy the pig is about to move in with the nation's best known farmer — President Eisenhower.

The pig, owned by the late Mrs. L. B. Murphy, agreed that the city is no place to raise a pig.

Emmy Lou and her 10-year-old brother George wrote to the President asking him if he would take the 6-year-old pig and raise her on his farm in Gettysburg, Pa.

Yesterday, they received a letter from the President saying he would be glad to take her, that he would treat her well and that if he remembered he'd sent Emmy Lou a picture of Pansy when she came of age.

The President agreed that the city was no place to raise a pig.

East Germans to Send Delegates

BERLIN (AP) — The Communist East German government says it is sending a delegation to the top-level Big Four conference in Geneva next month.

In a statement issued last night, the East German government said that delegates from both parts of divided Germany be allowed to present their views on the German problem to the East-West meeting.

One source said Premier Otto Grotewohl might head the Soviet zone delegation.

Burglars Surprised Drinking Cokes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Police last night nabbed four storehouse breakers who were boldly drinking Cokes just outside the scene of their crime.

They readily confessed they broke into Union Hall, northwest corner of Cokes and left damage estimated at $500.

The burglar was 6, 6, his lieutenant 3 and their accomplices 3. Ray Barton, chairman of the hall's board, found the youngsters refreshing themselves in front of the premises. They told him they had some Cokes, there's lots of them in there.

The boys were formally charged with "dependency" and paroled to their parents.

SAID GOODBYE SAVANNAH, Tenn. (AP) — "We were sitting there fishing," Murd Copeland told police. "He got up, told me goodbye and jumped up. The boy of it, he was a white man, and two large for one, so my father put a boy in the job of deputy," he said.

Boy Sentenced for Killing Great Aunt

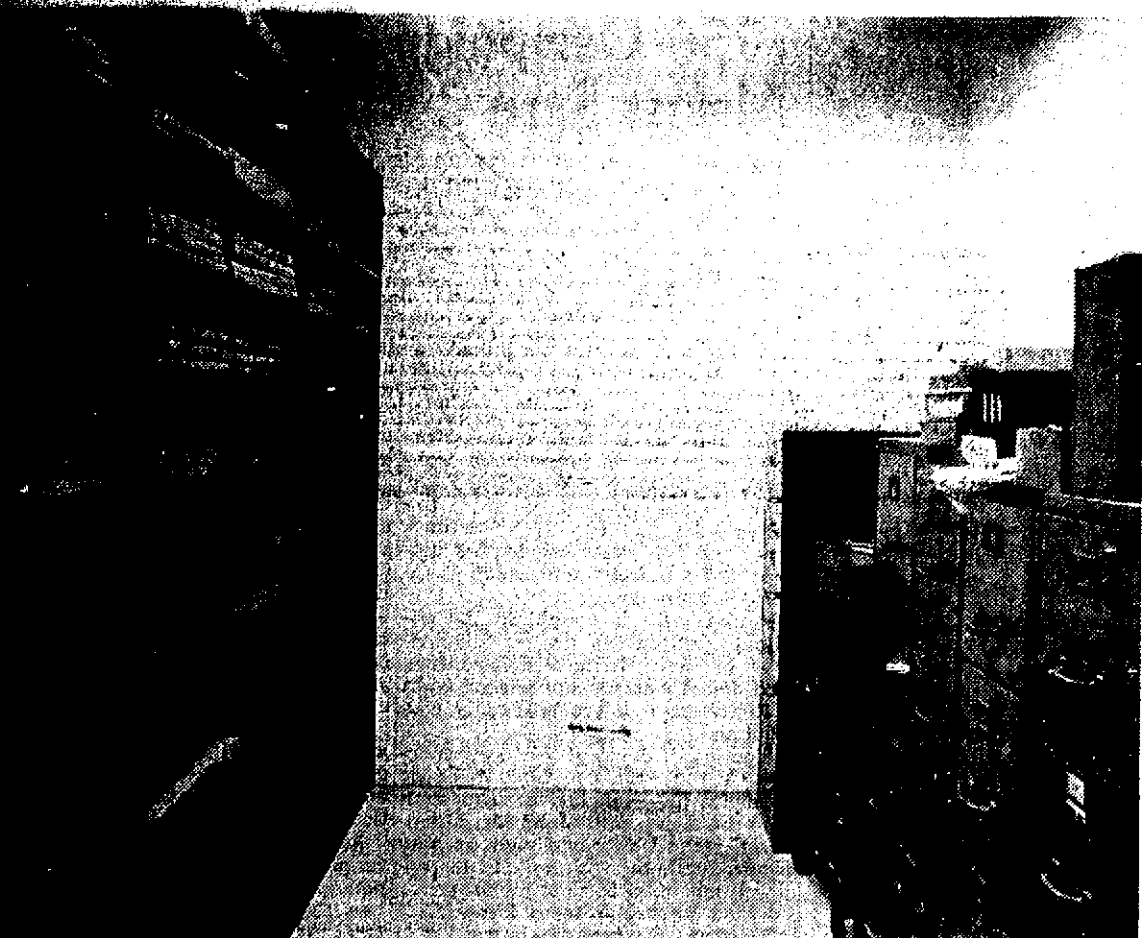

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A 17-year-old boy who admitted slaying his great aunt with a hammer was sentenced yesterday to 20 years in prison term on a second-degree murder charge.

William Wright, in admitting the slaying of Mrs. Evelyn Thomas, 68, here last Jan. 26, testified he killed her when he thought she was going to telephone his mother and "upset" her.

She parked her beach wagon on Newcomb Street and went about her shopping. She had some beach wagon, detached her purchases and went off again for more shopping.

When she returned to the beach wagon the second time, the first homicide she placed

Have You Got the Sunday Neurosis

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Do you feel guilty when you don't have enough work to do on Sunday? Perhaps it's "Sunday afternoon neurosis."

With the increase of automation, it's apt to become a week-long problem, Dr. Gilbert Brighthouse, Occidental College psychologist, says.

Sunday afternoon neurosis, the doctor told the American Society of Training Directors, is nervousness "in which the victim doesn't know what to do with himself and feels guilty because he isn't working."

Dr. Brighthouse suggests acquiring new skills and indulging in adult education.

Picture Progress Report on How New Star Building Was Constructed and Then the Old Roof Torn Away

B. W. EDWARDS

Mr. Edwards, widely known as a contractor, built the new Star Building. Other local structures to his credit are: The Hempstead county court house; First Baptist and First Presbyterian churches; the W. Shonhouse Sons, Inc., factory building; and the Stephens Grocer Co. building.

THE PICTURE STORY

Feb. 22, 1955 — The old Star building, its front offices vacated, the machinery remains in place — on the eve of construction, which began Feb. 26.

March 16 — Steel trusses go in, to support concrete deck and new roof, building's ceiling is 10 feet high, against 15 feet for the old one.

April 3 — New building rises — and half of the old roof has already been torn away.

June 18 — Today

Have You Got the Sunday Neurosis

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Do you feel guilty when you don't have enough work to do? Perhaps it's "Sunday afternoon neurosis."

With the increase of automation, it's apt to become a week-long problem, Dr. Gilbert Brighthouse, Occidental College psychologist, says.

Sunday afternoon neurosis, the doctor told the American Society of Training Directors, is nervousness "in which the victim doesn't know what to do with himself and feels guilty because he isn't working."

Dr. Brighthouse suggests acquiring new skills and indulging in adult education.

Defense Chief in Arkansas Is Satisfied

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Civil Defense Director Owen Payne said he was pleased with the first 12 cities—more than half the number expected—uncovered the alert.

The towns participating were El Dorado, Springfield, Clarksville, Forrest City, Hot Springs, Pine Bluff, North Little Rock, Berryville, Pocahontas, Cammackville, Tazewell, and Jacksonville.

At Jacksonville, near the site of the new Little Rock Air Force Base, more than half the town's population was evacuated in 45 minutes, Jacksonville Civil Defense Director Albert Elkins said that 339 cars quickly moved out of town after the 6:30 p.m. warning signal. He estimated that the automobiles carried 4,700 persons.

Negro Revue Smash Hit in London

By Tom A. Cullen
NEA Special Correspondent

LONDON (NEA)—Sixty-five American artists have stepped forward as the fathers of London's smash hit, all-Negro revue, "The Jazz Train" and have thrown the United States Air Force into an awful flap.

Not that the baby isn't doing fine. "The Jazz Train" is a dazzling audience standing on its seats and cheering at the Pleadings Theatre. "The most brazen, quaint, comic, sexy revue London has seen in years," is the way the critics describe it.

Not that the 65 U. S. Air Force officers don't stand to make a barrel of money on a $45,000 investment; the show is booked solid for weeks to come.

A hospital where the Air Force brass is: "Is it against regulations?" They have been burning the wires to the Pentagon in an effort to find out.

Meanwhile, the enterprising GIs who put up the money for the big, lavish, all-colored revue, ficially got wind of the show, things began to pop. Air Force Regulations were thumbed feverishly, even the pentagon was consulted. In the end it was decided that nothing could be done about the cast being recruited from West Indians here.

Welles' Has Them Reeling in Moby Dick

LONDON (AP)—Orson Welles brought the epic story of Moby Dick to the Duke of York's theater last night, in a stage version written by Orson Welles, produced by Orson Welles and with the two top roles acted by—his right, top roles acted by the critics reeling, some in raptures but all at least impressed.

Welles produced the Herman Melville classic as if it were being rehearsed on a bare stage by a 19th Century American theater company. He played both the company's manager and Captain Ahab, Melville's one-legged whaler skipper.

With no props except a few packing cases and a tangle of fly ropes, Welles set out to create the drama of Ahab's ferocious search for Moby Dick, the fabulous white whale. The climax of the story—Ahab's fatal battle with the whale—he fought out standing on a table set down from the stage among the seats. The whale didn't show.

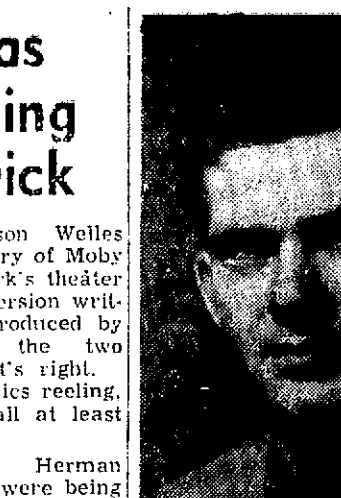

But Welles himself speared and tore to such effect that he re-created a direct hit in the eye of Daily Mirror critic Pergus Cashin, sitting seven rows back. Cashin said he forgave the spit because the performance "was a magnificent effort, tremendously exciting."

U. S. Jet Crashes Into Jap House

NAGOYA, Japan (AP)—A U. S. Sabre jet crashed into a row of Japanese houses near here today, killing the pilot and a 16-year-old boy and critically injuring three other Japanese. The Air Force headquarters said.

A spokesman said the Sabre was coming in for an instrument landing, missed the runway by about a quarter of a mile and crashed in flames into five houses, destroying one.

Injured with critical injuries were a 16-month-old baby, a 12-year-old woman and a man. They and the boy were in the destroyed house.

WILLIAM D. (BILL) JONES, printer and linotype operator, been with the company 13 years.

82 Arrested in Hong Kong Drive

HONG KONG (AP)—Chinese Communist newspapers arriving in Hong Kong today reported that the Chinese government had arrested 82 "counter-revolutionaries" in Peiping last month.

Among them, the papers said, were eight persons seized in raids on the clean shoulders of first arms and radio stations. "The other 74 taken into custody were 'counter-revolutionaries' concealing themselves in hotels in Peiping."

About three-fourths of the fiber used in the United States is cut in Hong Kong.

Death Has 3 Lives

Chapter XXIII

Timothy Rourke stopped at the City Desk to confer briefly with the editor, came back to his room, and found his head.

No one had got anything on the man picked up at the scene of the wreck except fairly positive corroboration that an unconscious body was carried away to the hospital, and no one has reported the incident officially to the police. What could have happened to him, Mike?

"All we can do is theorize," the editor told him. "He didn't get much of the gas. Just a few good whiffs, probably, before he was thrown clear. That would shake him out, but not for long. Could he have recovered before he was thrown clear? He might have held his head. The gas didn't get into his head. The gas didn't get into his head. The gas didn't get into his head."

Who's Head of Your House? Think It Over

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Who's head of your house? The husband or the wife? Think it over. The answer may cost you money.

Consider Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bogatin decided to fly to Philadelphia last week under the "family plan," using by airlines under government regulations.

The plan allows a husband and wife to travel on a fare and a half, instead of two fares—under certain conditions.

They must begin the trip together on a Monday, Tuesday or a Wednesday. Holder of the half fare must return on a Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday. Full fare can return any day.

Mr. Molotov Takes Chicago by Storm

CHICAGO (UPI)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov rolled across the Midwest plains in a special Pullman car today, leaving behind him a slightly shaken Chicago and group of angry demonstrators at Omaha.

The stocky diplomat, went on a surprise whirlwind tour of Chicago during a five-hour stopover late yesterday and before his train pulled out he had:

Caused the worst traffic jam on Lake Shore drive in years.

Done what not even the bravest Chicagoans would dare attempt walk across Lake Shore Drive in defiance of speeding rush hour.

Russia Expels Three Americans

LONDON (UP)—Private advice received here today said three assistant U. S. military attachés have been expelled from Russia.

The reports received here said all declared Persona Non Grata and left the Soviet capital about two weeks ago.

One of the action in an apparent case identified as Lt. Col. John S. Benson, Capt. Walter M. Malt, and Capt. William R. Stoudall were Army men. Their home addresses were not available in London.

(Benson, until about a year ago was assistant military officer for the 1st Army, Fort Jay, N. Y.) It was understood here that the incident was linked up at the time on grounds of the U. S. State Department felt publication would not be to the nation's interest.

Before paying the measure by voice vote yesterday the Senate rejected an effort to cut and ship construction subsidy back to the amount voted by the House. The measure was recommended by its own Appropriations Committee. A Senate-House conference committee will be named to work out the difference.

NOT WORTH EFFORT
POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)—Joseph Benedict McCoy, 40, a furniture merchant, waived extradition after being arraigned on a burglary charge before Judge Bernard McCoy, 40, in City Court yesterday. The prisoner, who made no application for bail, was committed to Dutchess County Jail pending grand jury action.

Joseph McCoy was accused of breaking into a doctor's office and a beauty salon last Wednesday night. All that was missing, police said, was a toll of burglaries.

Three-fourths of U. S. standing saw timber is in small wood lots. Morgan, a pin-size salesman, thought London would go big for "The Jazz Train," so he got in touch with its New York producer. The captain's idea was to form a company and then to invite his fellow-officers to become investors — all on off-duty time, of course.

Defense Chief in Arkansas Is Satisfied

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Civil Defense Director Owen Payne said he was pleased with the first 12 cities—more than half the number expected—uncovered the alert.

The towns participating were El Dorado, Springfield, Clarksville, Forrest City, Hot Springs, Pine Bluff, North Little Rock, Berryville, Pocahontas, Cammackville, Tazewell, and Jacksonville.

At Jacksonville, near the site of the new Little Rock Air Force Base, more than half the town's population was evacuated in 45 minutes, Jacksonville Civil Defense Director Albert Ellis said.

Payne made the statement after yesterday's nationwide Civil Defense test warning.

However, he said that Arkansas still is far from ready for a real all-out attack by an enemy.

Payne said that after Arkansas received the alert Civil Defense units were notified within 30 minutes by State Police, National Guard and State Game and Fish.

Negro Revue Smash Hit in London

By Tom A. Cullen
NEA Special Correspondent

LONDON (NEA)—Sixty-five American artists have stepped forward as the members of London's smash hit, all-Negro revue, "The Jazz Train."

The revue, which opened at the Palladium Theatre, has been a sensation since it opened. It has been running for more than a month and is still going strong.

The revue is a collection of songs and dances by Negro artists from the United States. It is a celebration of Negro culture and talent.

The revue has been a huge success in London, drawing large crowds and receiving positive reviews. It is a testament to the talent and creativity of Negro artists.

Welles' Has Them Reeling in Moby Dick

LONDON (AP)—Orson Welles brought the epic story of Moby Dick to the Duke of York's theatre last night, in a state version written by Welles and produced by Welles and the two top roles acted by Welles' right-hand man, John Barrymore.

Welles produced the Herman Melville classic as if it were being rehearsed on a bare stage by a 19th Century American theatre company. He played both the company manager and Captain Ahab, Melville's one-legged whale skipper.

Welles set out to create the drama of Ahab's obsessive quest for Moby Dick, the fabulous white whale. The climax of the story—Ahab's fatal battle with the whale—was fought out standing on a beach, with the whale leaping out of the water to attack Ahab.

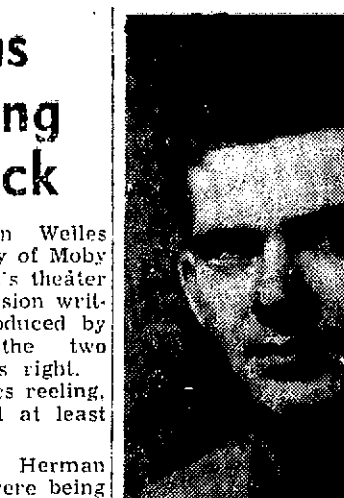

Welles himself played the role of Ishmael, the narrator of the story. He played the role with a mix of humor and tragedy, capturing the essence of the character.

U. S. Jet Crashes Into Jap House

NAGOYA, Japan (AP)—A U. S. Sabre jet crashed into a row of Japanese houses near here today, killing the pilot and a 16-year-old boy and critically injuring three other Japanese. The Air Force headquarters said.

A spokesman said the Sabre was coming in for a landing when it crashed. The crash occurred in a residential area, causing significant damage to the houses and the lives of the people living there.

The pilot was killed on impact. The 16-year-old boy was also killed. Three other Japanese were critically injured. The Air Force is investigating the cause of the crash.

82 Arrested in Hong Kong Drive

HONG KONG (AP)—Chinese Communist newspapers arriving in Hong Kong today reported that 82 "counter-revolutionaries" had been arrested in a drive to root out the "Five Black Gangs."

The drive is part of a larger campaign by the Chinese Communist Party to eliminate opposition and consolidate power. The arrested individuals are accused of being members of the Five Black Gangs, which are considered to be the most dangerous of the counter-revolutionaries.

The arrests were carried out in a coordinated effort across the city. The individuals were taken to detention centers for further processing.

Who's Head of Your House? Think It Over

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Who's head of your house? The husband or the wife? Think it over. The answer may cost you money.

Consider Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bogatin decided to fly to Philadelphia last week under the "family plan," using airlines under government regulations.

The plan allows a husband and wife to travel on a fare and a half, instead of two fares—under certain conditions.

They must begin the trip together on a Monday, Tuesday or a Wednesday. Holder of the half fare must return on a Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday. Full fare can return any day.

Bogatin wanted to come home on a Wednesday. His wife had to stay over until Saturday. Could he ride the half-fare ticket, leaving the full fare for his wife?

Who, no, said the young lady at the American Airlines ticket office. The head of the house was Bogatin, a lawyer, has been given the right to travel full fare.

Shayne arriving back in town, Bogatin, a lawyer, has been given the right to travel full fare.

Death Has 3 Lives

Chapter XXIII

Timothy Rourke stopped at the City Desk to confer briefly with the editor, came back to the office, and found his head.

No one has got anything on the man picked up at the scene of the wreck except fairly positive corroboration that an unconscious body was carried away to the hospital, and no one has reported the incident officially to the police. What could have happened to him, Mike?

"All we can do is theorize," the editor told him. "He didn't get much of the gas. Just a few good whiffs, probably, before he was knocked out. He was carrying a gun, but not for long. Could he have recovered before they found him? Or did he die?"

"And according to the woman," said Shayne disinterestedly, "her husband telephoned her in New Orleans two days ago to meet him between 8 and 10 o'clock. Rourke was leaving the way back to the city on the train."

"Cops checked the motel and found nothing," the editor said. "A somewhat vague description of the man who checked her in. Mr. Rourke, a young man, about 30, dark hair, wearing a suit. They've got the license number of your car, but don't know it yet. They're looking for it now. Nothing to show any connection between the gray sedan and Rourke or the stranger girl."

Rourke opened double glass doors as he finished, switched on the light, and looked at the newspaper. The headline read: "Mystery Man Killed in Hotel." The article described the death of a young man, Timothy Rourke, who was found dead in a hotel room. The article mentioned that Rourke was carrying a gun and that there was a stranger girl in the room with him.

Freedom Is More Than Money

NEW YORK (UP)—Louis Hoffner, 41, said today freedom means more to him than $12,800 he received a compensation for spending almost 12 years in prison for a murder he didn't commit.

Hoffner, a bachelor, was awarded the sum by a state court of appeals yesterday. He said he was "glad to get it, but it's not the main thing."

Hoffner was convicted of the slaying of a Queens, N. Y., bartender in 1940 and sentenced to life imprisonment. He was released on parole on Nov. 10, 1952, by Queens County Judge John J. Frank.

Mr. Molotov Takes Chicago by Storm

CHICAGO (UPI)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov rolled across the Midwest plains in a special Pullman car today, leaving behind him a slightly shaken Chicago and group of angry demonstrators at Omaha.

The stocky diplomat, went on a surprise whirlwind tour of Chicago during a five-hour stopover late yesterday and before his train pulled out at 6:30 a. m.

Done what not even the bravest Chicagoans would dare attempt walk across Lake Shore Drive in defiance of speeding rush hour traffic.

Flustered U. S. Steel officials who didn't know whether the distinguished Communist would be allowed to tour the company's huge South Side plant.

Molotov was running the city said "it gives me the shivers."

Back in Chicago, thousands of persons had got a glimpse of the famed Soviet Minister, but none of them still found it hard to believe.

A steel mill worker, when he saw that it was indeed Molotov, "aw, go on. He wouldn't be here in a Cadillac, would he?"

Another Chicagoan, when Molotov was running the city said "it gives me the shivers."

LONDON (UP)—Private advice received here today said three assistant U. S. military attachés have been expelled from Russia.

The reports received here said all declared Persona Non Grata and left the Soviet capital about two weeks ago.

One of the actions in an apparent case identified as Lt. Col. John S. Benson, Capt. Walter M. Malt, and Capt. William R. Stoudall were Army men. Their home addresses were not available in London.

(Benson, until about a year ago was assistant military officer for the 1st Army, Fort Jay, N. Y.) It was understood here that the incident was linked up at the time on grounds of the U. S. State Department felt publication would not be to the nation's advantage.

Reports received here said the Soviets also had withdrawn public attention to prevent the matter becoming a public incident.

Negro Revue Smash Hit in London

By Tom A. Cullen
NEA Special Correspondent

LONDON (NEA)—Sixty-five American artists have stepped forward as the fathers of London's smash hit, all-Negro revue, "The Jazz Train" and have thrown the United States Air Force into an awful flap.

Not that the baby isn't doing fine. "The Jazz Train" is a dazzling audience standing on its seats and cheering at the Pleadings Theatre. "The most brilliant, comic, sexy revue London has seen in years," is the way the critics describe it.

Not that the 65 U. S. Air Force officers don't stand to make a barrel of money on a $45,000 investment; the show is booked solid for weeks to come.

A hospital where the Air Force brass is: "Is it against regulations?" They have been burning the wires to the Pentagon in an effort to find out.

Meanwhile, the enterprising GIs who put up the money for the big, lavish, all-colored revue, ficially got wind of the show, things began to pop. Air Force Regulations were thumbled feverishly, even the pentagon was consulted. In the end it was decided that nothing could be done about the cast being recruited from West Indians here.

Welles' Has Them Reeling in Moby Dick

LONDON (AP)—Orson Welles brought the epic story of Moby Dick to the Duke of York's theater last night, in a stage version written by Orson Welles, produced by Orson Welles and with the two top roles acted by—his right, top roles acted by the critics reeling, some in raptures but all at least impressed.

Welles produced the Herman Melville classic as if it were being rehearsed on a bare stage by a 19th Century American theater company. He played both the company manager and Captain Ahab, Melville's one-legged whaler skipper.

With no props except a few packing cases and a tangle of fly ropes, Welles set out to create the drama of Ahab's ferocious search for Moby Dick, the fabulous white whale. The climax of the story—Ahab's fatal battle with the whale—he fought out standing on a table set down from the stage among the seats. The whale didn't show.

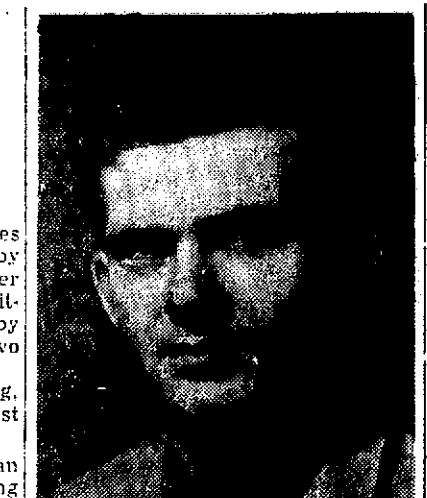

But Welles himself speared and tore to such effect that he re-created a direct hit in the eye of Daily Mirror critic Pergus Cashin, sitting seven rows back. Cashin said he forgave the spit because the performance "was a magnificent effort, tremendously exciting."

HONG KONG (AP)—Chinese Communist newspapers arriving in Hong Kong today reported that the Chinese government had arrested 82 "counter-revolutionaries" in Peiping last month.

Among them, the papers said, were eight persons seized in raids on the clean shoulders of first arms and radio stations. "The other 74 taken into custody were 'counter-revolutionaries' concealing themselves in hotels in Peiping."

No one had got anything on the man picked up at the scene of the wreck except fairly positive corroboration that an unconscious body of the driver wedged behind the wheel. The other two haven't been found yet. He nudged his head as he scanned the story swiftly.

"Paradise was driving, Switzerland in the back seat handcuffed to the driver. With the two guys handcuffed together, no one gives him a chance of having the car out alive. Their bodies may well have been carried down the hill and out to sea by the floor current."

"And according to the woman," said Shayne disquietedly, "her husband telephoned her in New Orleans two days ago to meet him between 8 and 10 o'clock. Rourke was leading the way back to the hotel on the way to the room."

"Cops checked the motel and found the car. He nodded after a moment. "A somewhat vague description of the man who checked her in. Mr. Rourke, a young man, about 30, they've got the license number of your car, but don't know it yet. They're looking for a man who looks like you. Nothing to show any connection between the gray sedan and Bristow or the stranger girl."

Rourke opened double glass doors as he finished, switched on the light, and looked at the newspaper. "Nine cases and rows of newspapers hanging from the wooden shelves. 'I've a hunch I saw clips. He led the way down a narrow corridor, explaining only locally, though I'm sure it wasn't a local story. You take one week and I'll take the next. I'll be back for a page 1 wire story from some other city."

"New Orleans," asked Shayne as Rourke spread a file of back issues and sent it out on a table.

"We can guess that. But look for the name Allardice with a mention of a hunk of dough." Rourke took the last week's file for himself and began busy scanning the front pages for each succeeding day.

Shayne was slower than the reporter, not having the instinctive knowledge of where to spot what he was looking for, and he was slowly studying Tuesday's front page in his file when Rourke exclaimed, "Here it is, Mike! Not New Orleans, but Baton Rouge."

He read aloud:

"A triple tragedy occurred today when an automobile occupied by two veteran police officers from New Orleans and a convicted prisoner—they were conveying to the state penitentiary left the highway at high speed 30 miles from New Orleans, careened off a concrete bridge abutment and crashed into the swimming mission of the Seawatch River 30 feet below. With the river almost at flood peak, rescue operations were hampered by a swift current and neither the automobile nor any of the bodies had been recovered late today. It is believed that three occupants of the car perished in the raging torrent."

"They were DeLoe. First Class Mark Switzer and Officer John Parradine of New Orleans, the date if it gives it here," Rourke said.

"He was beaten unconscious, he said, and when he came to he was informed by his neighbor that a country road outside the city limits and the money-bag was missing. He made his way to a telephone and reported the incident to police headquarters, and was stoutly maintained his innocence of any complicity in the affair throughout an afternoon of intense questioning."

"Wait a minute, Mike!" Rourke went on excitedly. "Here's something. A reporter who went to the small house in the Paradise section occupied by the Allardices and a roomer, Jack Bristow, found no one at home in mid-afternoon, and was informed by his neighbor that Mrs. Beatrice Allardice, pretty young wife of the accused bank messenger, is in a Clarksville attorney's office, representing the union on the panel. The current wage for the union employees is $13.10 an hour."

NEW YORK (UP)—Louis Hoffner, 41, said today freedom means more to him than $12,200 he received a compensation for spending almost 12 years in prison for a murder he didn't commit.

He confessed to talk big. Mrs. Bogatin, traveling on her half fare, said she was "glad to get it, but it's not the main thing."

He was convicted of the slaying of a Queens, N. Y., bartender in 1940 and sentenced to life imprisonment. The conviction was set aside on Nov. 10, 1952, by Queens County Judge John J. Frank following an intensive campaign by the New York World-Telegram newspaper.

Judge Young said yesterday that "inherent in this decision must be the fact that the district attorney's office and possession of evidence which, in the opinion of the court, would have prevented this transaction."

The union employees are members of Division 704 of the AFL, representing the American Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America.

A. L. Weston, a North Little Rock realtor named to the arbitration panel by CTA has rejected six names suggested by the union, the union said.

Wiley Don, a Clarksville attorney, is representing the union on the panel. The current wage for the union employees is $13.10 an hour.

Selling Her Memories for a Good Price

By KATHERINE PINKHAM

SAN FRANCISCO—Instead of being people with memories of the days of the old country, Mrs. H. H. Hutter is selling her memories for a good price. She is selling them in the form of a book, "The Hutter Family," which she has just published. The book is a collection of memories of her family, which she has gathered up over the years. It is a book that will be of interest to many people, especially those who are interested in the history of the Hutter family. The book is available for sale at a price of $2.50 per copy. It is a book that is well worth the price. It is a book that is well worth the price.

Border Patrol Has Plenty Excitement

By KENNETH O. GILMORE

WASHINGTON (NEA)—As midnight approached, two men trudged along a narrow path beside the Rio Grande River near El Paso, Tex. The full moon threw a dazzling reflection on the murky water and silhouetted their cautious progress. Suddenly a light flickered 100 yards away on the opposite shore. With it came the familiar whine of a bullet. Then the report of a rifle shot lit the still night.

Still Raided, Two Men Face Charges

City, State and County officers

Sunday raided a moonshine liquor still just over the line in Lafayette

County, seized 18 gallons of with-key, destroyed 200 gallons of mash and a 20-barrel rig and arrested two persons.

Sheriff Jimmy Cook said A. P.

Powell and Edna Henry, both at the site of the still, would be arrested in federal court at Texas today. He said the raid was made by himself, Lt. Fred Porterfield and Tom Smalley of the State

Police, ATO officers and a deputy sheriff of Lafayette County.

Three men were taken to the county jail. The other two were released. The raid was part of a series of raids on moonshiners in the area.

The raid was made by a team of officers from the State Police and the Lafayette County Sheriff's Office. The raid was successful in destroying the still and in arresting the two men. The raids are part of a campaign to eliminate moonshining in the area.
